

Systems Change Summit

Two years ago, the Metcalf Foundation announced the Toronto Sector Skills Academy (TSSA), a learning and leadership program for senior professionals who advance sector-based workforce development policy, services and training in the Toronto region. The Academy enabled peers from a variety of organizations to learn from experts, strengthen partnerships, engage in experiential learning with practical applications and acquire new skills to explore, catalyze, and enable sectoral workforce strategies.

In partnership with the Ontario Centre for Workforce Innovation (OCWI), the Durham Workforce Authority (DWA) will host a free community information half day learning event focused on sector-based approaches to workforce development policy from local practitioners who are engaging in sector-based approaches and systems change.
